

Welcome!

Alfred Smith's Farm is now part of Open Food Network USA!

The User Guide with detailed support for setting up your Producer or Hub is here: Open Food Network User Guide

You can manage your account by logging into the Admin Panel or by clicking on the person shape in the top right hand side of the homepage, and selecting "Administration" from the dropdown.

We'll be in touch, not too frequently, by email. Please make sure emails from addresses at openfoodnetwork.net aren't intercepted by your spam filter. You will find that OFN is more than just software to help you meet the unique challenges of running a food enterprise - it's a community, and you are invited to join in when you can. We are constantly evolving and your input will help shape what happens next. Please contact support@openfoodnetwork.net with any technical questions or questions about your financial contribution to OFN, to learn about volunteer opportunities, or to discover the many ways there are to learn about the Open Food Network from folks around the world. If you're interested in peeking under the hood, you are welcome to visit Join the community and get to know the folks who are co-creating OFN. We're glad you are here!

Cheers,

Open Food Network USA Team
